

Abstract

The invention relates to a combination of a microrelay switch (1) for switching off small overcurrents, and a short-circuit current limiter, for example a fuse link, a PTC thermistor 16 or a power breaker, for limiting or switching off large overcurrents. Figure 4